the parents and by this means grow up to be useful men and women.

The hymn, "Prayer Is the Soul's Sincere Desire," was sung by the choir and Apostle Whitney then made a brief address, in which he commented to some extent on the remarks of President Kimball.

He said it is not what is said by a speaker, what is heard in a musical selection or what is seen in a drama, that is powerful in its effect on the human life, but what is suggested by those channels of expression. The chief merit in all expression is what it suggests and we are benefited according to the extent in which we follow the suggestion that is made. Thus the remark that digging a ditch was a part of the gospel, made by President Kimball, he said, had made a deep impression on him, as it brought to his mind the fact that word "Gospel" means "The Story of God" and the story of God included every minute of the life of the Master. His religion could not be confined to a Sunday religion or to "first principles," but included temporal as well as spiritual things.

The gospel, he continued, was instituted for the eternal progression of God's children. Resurrection means redemption and salvation means redemption added upon, and exaltation means more than either. All men, but the sons of perdition, will be saved but their exaltation in the kingdom of God, depends on their individual effort. Christ said, "I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am ye may be also," but he was not speaking to the populace at that time. He was speaking only to the disciples that had been faithful in their service to him and who had obeyed every commandment and only those who have lived the gospel as the disciples to whom Christ was speaking, will be rewarded with a place in his kingdom.

The closing song was, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," sung by Mrs. Stella Wright-Olson, Robert Binnie and the choir. After the benediction, the conference was adjourned until 2 p. m.

At the afternoon session the following musical program was rendered:

Organ Prelude—Sam F. Whitaker.
 Hymn, "Come O Thou King of Kings," Tabernacle choir.

Duet—John and William Stephens. Instrumental Trio—Axel Nylander, flute; Leith Pearson, cello and Sam F. Whitaker, organ.

Solo and chorus, "Veni Creator," Mrs. Agnes Warner and choir.

During the session, Mrs. Lillibell Frey gave a detailed announcement of the coming session of the Utah Chautauqua assembly at Glenwood Park and invited the people of the stake to participate in the affair by patronizing the different lectures and other events that will be given.

The general and stake authorities were presented by President John V. Bluth and were unanimously sustained by the congregation. The remainder of the meeting was taken up by Apostle Whitney, who gave a deep doctrinal sermon concerning the restoration of the gospel to the Prophet Joseph Smith and the plan of salvation.

The quarterly conference of the North Weber stake was held yesterday in the Tabernacle, with an attendance at both sessions that crowded the building to its fullest capacity. The main addresses of the day were given by Apostle Orson F. Whitney and President J. Golden Kimball of the first council of Seventy, and a special musical program was furnished by the Ogden Tabernacle choir and soloists, under the direction of J. Earl Ballantyne.

President James W. Henshaw presided at the conference and following an organ prelude by Organist Sam F. Whitaker, the morning service was opened by the congregation and choir singing, "We Thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet." The invocation was then offered and was followed by the singing of the solo and chorus, "Hosanna," by Mrs. Agnes Warner and the choir.

The first speaker was President Josiah Carver of the 87th quorum of Seventy, who made a detailed report of the condition of that organization and of the work which it is doing. The report was an excellent one and showed the 87th quorum to be well up to the standard.

The report of the stake presidency was next given, by President Wetherpoon. The report showed that 77 per cent of the people of the stake had been visited by the ward teachers during the quarter. In selecting the ward teachers, the bishops have been instructed to call them into matters to them so that they may be able to feel the importance of the work, and that the work there be outlined for them so that they may know how to labor and how to become eligible to labor in this capacity. When found worthy and willing to accept the position, they should be set apart for the calling.

The report also took up in detail the instructions that had been given the different quorum officers and members in the Stake Priesthood meetings and also the instructions that had been given the workers in the stake auxiliary associations in their union meetings. Special instructions were also given regarding the keeping of church records.

From a statistical point of view, the report showed the stake and ward organizations to be in excellent condition and continually improving. After concluding the report, President Wetherpoon exhorted the congregation to continue their work and to do as much good for their fellowmen as possible at all times.

The next speaker was President Kimball and his remarks, while given in a humorous manner, were of much import. In his talk, he said that even "digging a ditch" was a part of the gospel and that the commandment of life should be carefully looked after. Regarding the kind of life that men should be given to do in the church and, in daily life, he said that there was nothing greater in the church than to understand the temperaments of men, so as to be able to give them something to do that they would like to do, whether it was to act as a ward teacher. And either kind of service was equal in importance and should receive equal credit, if done in the proper spirit. Men are willing to work, he continued, if they can only be put at the kind of work for which they are suited. Satisfaction depends on work, as faith is gained only by that means.

In conclusion, he said that the course of the home and the nation was idleness and he exhorted the mothers to cease waiting upon their children, lest the children should grow up virtually worthless. Instead, he said, the children should wait upon

L. W. SHURTLEFF TO BE ORATOR OF THE DAY AT SALMON

President L. W. Shurtliff, former postmaster of Ogden, will deliver the Fourth of July oration at Salmon, Lemhi county, Ida., and he will leave Ogden for that city July 2 as it requires about two days to make the trip, due to the fact that close railroad connections are not made. He will reach Salmon on the afternoon of July 2.

Mr. Shurtliff is one of the pioneers of Lemhi county, as he went there with the Mormon colony which built Fort Lemhi and established the first settlement in 1855.

President C. F. Middleton of Ogden was in Salmon with President Shurtliff. They both went through the work of pioneering in that then far-away region and took part in the defense of their people when the Indians made an attack in the winter of 1857-58.

Mr. Middleton stood guard twenty days without removing his buckskin clothes. The colony was saved by two messengers making their way through the Indian lines and reaching Ogden with the news of the outbreak. One hundred well armed men went north from Utah in time to save the besieged, but not before two men had been killed and five wounded.

President Shurtliff has not visited that region in a long time and he says he is pleased with the opportunity to again meet with his many acquaintances there.

The program of the day will consist of patriotic exercises at 1:30 in the afternoon and athletic sports during the entire day.

BICYCLE CASE BEFORE THE MUNICIPAL COURT

The principal case in the municipal court today was that of the city vs. H. S. Hillburt. The defendant was charged with having stolen a bicycle from E. C. Wecker of Marriott. Mr. Wecker was one of the witnesses and identified the bicycle recovered in Salt Lake City as his property. Detective Egbert of the Salt Lake police department, who arrested Hillburt in that city last Tuesday, was also a witness. His testimony was to the effect that the defendant tried to sell the bicycle to a pawnbroker in Salt Lake, but that the broker, becoming suspicious, rode the bicycle to the police headquarters and got the witness to return to his place of business to arrest Hillburt.

The defendant, in telling his story, said he happened to be in the pawnshop to buy a necktie when another man came in and tried to sell the bicycle to the proprietor. He was offered $3 for it, but wouldn't sell it for that price. The witness, according to his statement, offered the man $5. It was sold to him and he was given a receipt for the money. The receipt was offered in evidence.

On cross-examination, it was learned that the $5 which Hillburt claimed to have paid for the bicycle was all the money he had at the time and he could not explain why the pawnbroker had ridden the bicycle to headquarters while he remained at the shop. As a partial explanation, he stated that he was willing to buy the necktie, but failed to tell how he was going to do that without any money. The case was taken under advisement.

The case of the City vs. Y. Wada, a Japanese, charged with selling liquor without a license, was set for Wednesday morning.

W. E. Miller and James Goodwin were tried on the charge of disturbing the peace. The two men were fighting on an Ogden canyon car late Saturday night. It was proven that Miller, who was slightly drunk at the time, was the aggressor and his case was taken under advisement.

The case against Goodwin was dismissed. Bob Robinson, a drunk, received a five-day suspended sentence.

James Grace received a $3 fine for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk.

Thomas Haley, who was arrested Saturday night on the charge of disturbing the peace, had his case taken under advisement.

an excellent address, intermingling things of rare historic interest concerning the establishment of the office of a bishop in the church and of his own 28 years' experience as a bishop in the Eighteenth ward of Salt Lake City.

During the meeting President Wetherpoon paid a sincere tribute of respect to the memory of the late Bishop William D. Van Dyke, Jr., and the following musical numbers were given:

Duet, "Lead Us Gently On, O Father," Clara and Ethel Bowns; solo, "Rest," George Mitchell, and "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go," Edward Saunders.

The benediction was pronounced by Elder Elijah Larkin.

OGDEN IS TO SUPPLY FIGURES FOR THE PARCEL POST

According to a communication received at the office of Postmaster W. W. Browning today, the United States postal service department has begun a series of experiments tending to bring producer and consumers together by means of the parcel post system, thus cutting out the middleman and decreasing the present high cost of living.

The communication contained the information that Ogden is considered the central shipping point in the district between St. Louis and San Francisco and the postmaster is requested to furnish the department with a list of the farmers who are using the parcel post system to get their produce to distant consumers. After this list is received, the farmers will be communicated with in an endeavor to find out what results they are obtaining and the prices at which they are able to sell their produce. This information will then be conveyed to the public.

CONFIRMATION OF THE APPOINTMENT OF R. A. PIERCE

The appointment of R. A. Pierce to the position of superintendent of the Ogden Terminal company was ratified this morning at a meeting held in the office of T. F. Rowlands in the Union depot building, by the representatives of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Oregon Short Line. The officers present were Assistant Superintendent G. O. Brophy of the Union Pacific; Superintendent T. F. Rowlands and Assistant Superintendent H. L. Bell of the Southern Pacific and Superintendent A. F. Brewer and Division Engineer H. J. Harris of the Oregon Short Line.

It is expected that the transfer of the management of the terminal from the Oregon Short Line to the Ogden Terminal company, will occur on Wednesday morning, at which time the Southern Pacific company will take over the control of the shops.

Mr. Pierce will have charge of all of the railroad property at the depot and yards, with the exception of the shops.

On Saturday forenoon they were the guests of Mayor A. G. Fell in an automobile trip through Ogden canyon and to the fish hatchery near Huntville. They expressed themselves as charmed with the exquisite beauty and rugged and picturesque grandeur of the canyon and particularly with Ogden and its beautiful surrounding country.

Saturday afternoon an informal reception was given the visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Read, 2730 Washington avenue, from 4 to 6 o'clock, and many Ogden people called on them.

Mr. Smith is a broad-minded and intelligent gentleman, and is much interested and well informed on public affairs in the United States and is a great admirer of our national government and public institutions, but thinks that the municipalities of America, like the cities of England, should own and control all public utilities, such as electric light and gas plants, electric roads and water works.

Mr. Smith is a nephew of the late Thomas E. Holroyd, who died in this city in 1888, and has a large number of relatives in Utah.

The party spent Sunday in Salt Lake City, returning to Ogden in the evening, and will leave tonight for a visit to Yellowstone park, after which they will start on their return trip via Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, B. C., and over the Canadian Pacific to Montreal, where they will sail for England on August 4.
